This was Mrs. McCormick's first entertalnment in several years, as she has been in poor health until recently, and has spent much of her time in travel.

The entire house was a bower of American beauty roses, the Brautful flowers clustered in tail vases, massed in corners, arranged as if growing on the mantels, showered from the chandeliers and effectively used on the serving table in the dining-room.

No ladles were asked to assist with the refreshments, but several came without hats and contributed to the sociability of the afternoon. They were Mrs. William Orr. Mrs. Edward Orr. Mrs. Charles Burr.
Mrs. Warren Clark, Mrs. Rolla Billingsley and Miss Belle Orr.
Mrs. McCormick received in a gown of real duchesse lace over the usual chiffon and soft silk foundation. It was simply fashioned, but exaulsite in pattern and texture. Mrs. Lindsley wore black and white in a fine veiling, with insertions and motifs of white lace. Mrs. Guy Lindsley, who was of the receiving party, wore an effective cream lace gown in the heavy flustian weave.

Record Broken at Jerseyville, and

Clerk Feels Slighted.

A Thanksgiving record at Jerseyville was broken yesterday in that no one ap-deputy, Thomas A. Kraus, stood at their desks the entire day anxiously awaiting the coming of couples. No one wanted a marriage leense, but every one seemed to be in quest of a hunting license. These were issued in big batches.

As the day closed without a single marriage license being issued County Clerk McGrath remarked: "I guess we've fallen from grace, for in every well-regulated community the day before Thanksgiving does not pass without some one seeking a license to wed."

They surprised their friends yesterday by meeting downtown and getting married.

A courtship of five years terminated yesterday, when Miss Lottle Levier of No. 200 Kossuth avenue met her fiance, Minor R. Pence, by appointment, journeyed to the marriage-license office with the horde of Thanks_lving brides and bridegrooms and later were married at the home of the Reverend Naphtail Luccock of the Union Methodist Church.

"Just think of it?" said Miss Lester at the St. Nicholas Hotel, where she and her husband engaged apartments after the cremony, "not a soul knows anything about it yet—not even mamma."

Miss Lester is well known in Catholic singing circles about St. Louis. She is a member of St. Teresa's choir, and also a member of its opera and lady minstrel companies. She was also at one time a member of the choir at Holy Rosary Church.

bank, general stores, college, tabernacle and other hulldings.

A year ago Dowle failed to pay the installments due many landowners, securing a year's extension, which he may not obtain now. Much of the land in Zion City was mortgaged by Dowle and owners of houses thereon have only leases.

It lust leaks out that Dowle transferred the title of his palace in Zion to his wife just prior to her departure for Europe. Followers of Dowle in Waukegaan have received orders to move to Zion City and some are preparing to do so.
